

If I roll two six-sided dice, there are 36 possible combinations.

True

For each of the 6 possible numbers on the first roll, there are 6 corresponding possibilities on the second roll.